4 trucks impounded by law

Four impounded trucks were parked in front of the Hancock County courthouse on Wednesday after being seized by Chief Deputy Eldo Depreo and Deputy Chester Favre for displaying improper license plates.

Engaged in hauling fill on the US-90 project, three of the units, owned by Pat Dragon from Alabama, had recently been released after confiscation on a similar charge. Two

Bid totals top $3 million mark

Apparent low bids totaling $3,450,574.80 under 10 separate contracts for construction of a sewerage system and expansion of water facilities for Bay St. Louis are now being analyzed by the city's consulting engineers, Owen and White, Inc., of Baton Rouge, La.

Sixty-four separate bids were opened at City Hall last Thursday morning with some 50 firms participating.

Mayor John A. Scalfide said he and City Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover conferred with the engineers Tuesday and is hopeful a decision can be reached in the next day or so in order to award contracts.

Work is to be financed under the $3 million bond issue approved by the city voters in the spring of last year, plus a $150,000 grant from the U. S. Public Health Service. At that time more than $2.5 million was earmarked for construction of sewer, water and gas facilities, the balance going for engineering costs, land acquisition, legal fees, inspection and the like. The city fathers said over-all figures are within estimates.

While the apparent low bid last Thursday for construction of the oxidation pond for sewage treatment ran considerably in excess of the engineers' estimates, it is indicated this problem is near solution. George Consolidated of New Orleans bid $324,014.56. Three other bids on this job ranged upwards to $500,000.

Mayor Scalfide said additional ground borings are now being made in the area of the proposed oxidation pond to determine if it will hold water. Specifications now call for 76,000 cubic yards of clay sand to be moved into the pond to hold water and Scalfide said this is contributing to the high bid prices. He suggested it might be possible to eliminate this fill under renegotiation or a change order.

Smith to call bids on US-90

Bids should be sought in late summer for four-lane U.S. 90 from the truck scales east to the present four-lane section at Bay St. Louis.

John D. Smith, state highway commissioner for the Southern district, so informed the Sea Coast Echo in an interview last weekend at the Mississippi Press Assn. convention.

Work is now under way on four-lane strip of 90 from the scales west to the intersection with old state Rt. 43. Smith said he plans to call for the next bids in late July or August and is pushing the project because of the heavy traffic in the area, particularly with Mississippi Test Facility.

Some scattered portions of right of way also must be acquired for the next four-lane portion, the commissioner reported, but he does not anticipate this will raise any obstacles.

On the drawing boards for four-lane construction early next year is the section of Rt. 43 north to the proposed interchange on Interstate 10, he said.

Smith predicted 1-10 building in Hancock County will not start for about two more years. He explained that considerable work remains to be done on the Louisiana section before it could be used. Louisiana also will be responsible for the I-10 bridge over the East Pearl River which will be a major project because of the height necessary to enable barges to carry the huge Saturn rockets up the river to Mississippi Test Facility for static firing.

City enters utility pact with developer

An agreement was signed Wednesday by the city administration with R.A. Scivique of Hancock Heights sub-division to sell gas and water to that area with the sub-division to install and operate the utility systems.

The signing climaxed several months of negotiations. An ordinance covering the agreement is to be enacted next week. Part of Hancock Heights is inside the corporate limits and part is in the county. It has a potential of 400 home sites.

Under the agreement Scivique will have his own water and gas meters and collect for the service, remitting a portion to the city.

Meanwhile bids are being taken for construction of a four-inch natural gas pipeline to serve the proposed Bay High School and area along the route. The line is to run from Washington Street at the railroad tracks along Washington to Green Meadow Road, then to Main Street (Old Main Road).

City Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover noted that under the law the city is permitted to serve an area five miles beyond its corporate limits. Construction of this gas line will be financed by profit from natural gas sales and is not part of the gas system expansion and improvement program provided under the $3 million bond issue for utilities.

64-unit apartment slated

Clearing of the land is now in progress for a 64-unit apartment complex to be developed on North Beach Blvd., just north of Burnett Street in Cedar Point. A building permit was issued this month to Hallmark Realty Inc., for an estimated $700,000 structure which includes pool, children's recreation and play area as well as a pier and sand beach.

Joseph Buccola, local representative for Hallmark, said the building will be a two-story French Quarter type structure with one, two and three bedroom units, some furnished and others unfurnished.

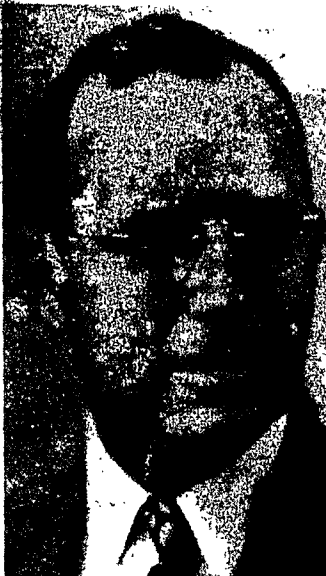

The construction contract is now being negotiated and it is hoped to have the apartments completed in six months, he said. Local interests are said to be backing the development. Bernard Mason of Gulfport is president of the real estate firm.

The property faces 250 feet on the beach and runs 500 feet deep. Buccola disclosed his firm also is planning a six-story office building on U.S. 90 but declined to designate the exact location.

Graham arrested by FBI

Joe Alva Graham, 24, arrested by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at an Old Spanish Trail restaurant on Friday, June 18, was held on $1,000 bond after a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Vernon Lee Swenson in Baton Rouge on Saturday.

Graham was taken into custody on a Federal warrant charging unlawful flight in a void protection on violation of the Arkansas hot check law. The bond is returnable to Federal Bureau District of Arkansas.

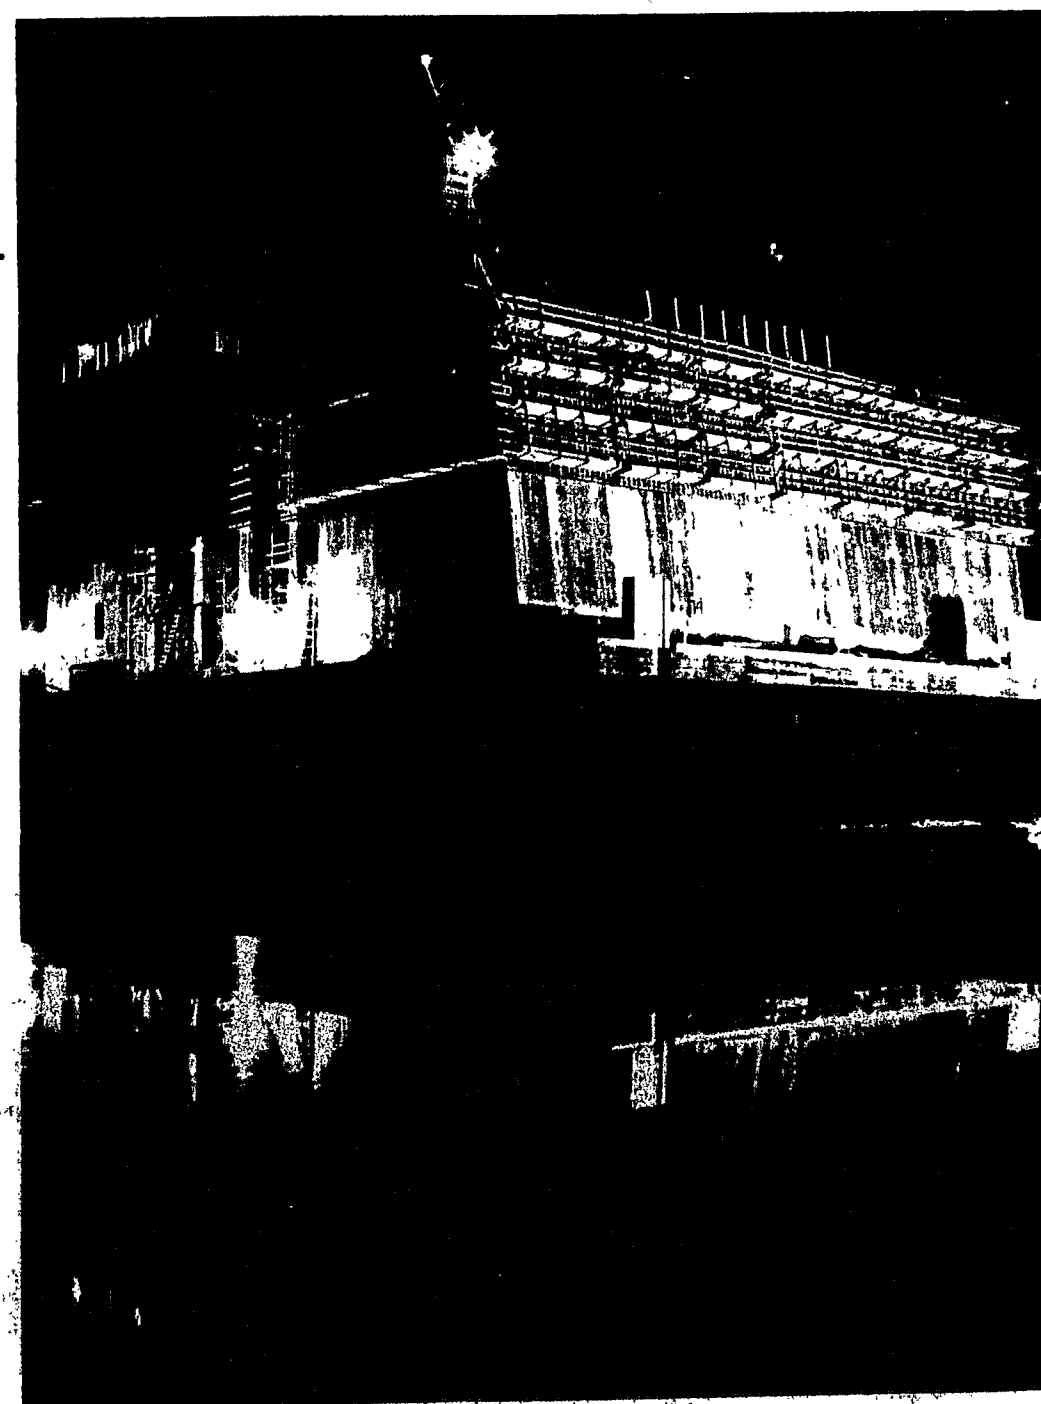

W.R. GORDON

Gordon to reign as Neptune

For the second straight year a Hancock Countyman has been chosen king of the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in recognition of his accomplishments toward the civic welfare and development of the Gulf Coast.

W. Ray Gordon of 790 Beach Blvd., Waveland, was named this week King Neptune VI. He will be crowned Friday, July 2, during ceremonies at Gulfport's Milner Stadium starting at 6:30 p.m. Gordon succeeds E. M. Brignac of Bay St. Louis. (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

EGYPTIAN PYRAMID - Planned of housing a deceased Pharaoh this structure, when completed, will tower 426 feet into night sky and be used to static fire moon shot rockets. Situated at Mississippi Test Facility, tank stand construction is reflected on surface of massive canal by which special barges will deliver S-C booster stages and fuels.

Projected personnel count met at MTF

The big activation push at Mississippi Test Facility appears to be running close to the projected population goal for July 1.

This week's work force numbers 4,619 of which about 1,910 are in the so-called permanent personnel category. Marshall Space Flight Center, parent of MTF, on May 5 set a target of 2,220 activation and operation personnel by July 1 in an effort to get the static test base operational this year. As of April 30, there were 1,180 A&I persons on the job.

Latest population figures show a decline of about more than 100 this week in construction and installation personnel. On the other hand, among the A&I groups, North American Aviation is up 22 for a new total of 333. General Electric hit 1,144, a gain of 44.

GE sub-contractors went up five, to 308, and Boeing gained three, for 31. The Weather Bureau remains at eight, and NASA hits 84.

Construction and installation current figure is 2,531, while the Corps of Engineers shows 178, including the real estate office in Bay St. Louis.

First construction contract to be awarded by the Corps of Engineers in Mobile to McInnis Florist and Nursery of Mobile, Ala., for $59,068 for extensive site improvement work. The government estimate was $69,957.

Work includes clearing of 75 acres, filling of 100 acres, and construction of 100 acres. The 3-11-7, fit-up of the Saturn rocket to be moved here, is due to arrive next week. (Cont. on Page 4-A.)

Teen Times

We haven't gotten around to recuperating from graduation, in fact we're still trying to find time to distribute a few stray gifts, and all of a sudden announcements are being made regarding dates of re-enrollment. As yet, public and parochial schools will reconvene at about the usual time... that is the Monday before Labor day for city schools and Wednesday after for OLG, SJA and SSC... but students in the county are expected to show up all of two weeks early... nothing to get excited about as they will be released that much earlier next year, it's just the fact that the whole idea gives us the feeling that the space age has caught up with us and one thing isn't past until future happenings are telescoped into the present, so to speak!

Lots of activity upcoming over the weekend. Bay boxers meet St. Mary's CYO team at St. Stanislaus Saturday night. Also on Saturday will be the first Miss Gulf Coast beauty pageant in eight years beginning at St. John's parish hall at 6 p.m.

Ozzie Blaise had to keep up with our victorious Girls' Statues and ended up with a desk and microphone exclusively for his use, having been elected monitor at Boys' State last week.

A very happy belated birthday wish goes to Sheila Woods who cut her 14th cake last Monday. Also late wishes are on the way to Kathy Everett who was 18 Friday, June 18.

On the subject of birthdays, we forgot and forgot the date of our most faithful reporter, Jennie Rutherford's 17th... we know it was earlier in the month, but can't recall exactly when. Another reporter, Donna Garriga, will celebrate her 16th on Wednesday, so to be on the safe side, we'll send her greetings now.

More wishes are on the way to Ann Rutherford who will be 17 on Saturday, June 26, the same day Cheryl Ming will cut her 16th.

Sheila Gottschalk and Lyn Wintzington received their Bachelor of Science degrees from Loyola last week.

Waveland members of Industrial Enamelling's Pony League ball team, William Redo, Orville Farrell, Dick Kolstad, Randy Ferguson and Bill Lambertus, are bursting with pride over winning their first game of the season when they defeated Fabey Drug's nine last Monday.

Pet Griffin is proudly displaying the diamond placed on her left hand by Larry Blacklock last Wednesday night.

Our brand new CYO reporter, pretty Cathy Saux, came through with a report on activities of that group. The highly successful street dance held in connection with the Annual OLG fair netted a total of $76.50.

Meeting dates have been set for every other Monday night at the parish hall, the next upcoming on June 28, the group to attend The Great Story Ever Told in the Crescent City, and July 17 for the boat trip to Ship Island.

Lorraine de Montluzin was elected president and Abbie Thompson, secretary and treasurer of the newly organized Music Appreciation Club, which will get together every other Sunday afternoon, also at the parish hall.

"You sure got to hand it to Mississippi when it comes to attractin' industry!"

BLITCH
REIDEN EXAMINER
WITH THANKS TO "SMUFFY"

In the first place its solution has no application to Sloan-Kettering's Dr. Southam. Those involved in his experiments consented after being advised of the risks.

Secondly, by what stretch of the imagination does Mr. Lear rationalize a legal basis for such a prohibition by the U. S. Food and Drug administration? Admittedly, there is no legal prohibition against making federal funds available on condition. But would the Saturday Review advocate granting of federal funds to painters, authors and composers on the basis the recipient painted, wrote or composed according to an edict of the government?

It is currently popular with many and no change is in sight, to go to Uncle Sam and his purse strings as a solution to all problems. Too often it is the approach of the intelligentsia rather than the intelligent.

Plight to consider

Pets present a problem to owner and public. This is true whether the pet is a dog, cat, bird, fish, monkey, "harmless" snake, skunk, alligator or what. Cobras, Tigers, sharks, pirai and similar cold and warm fleshed creatures are not classifying as pets.

A major part of our concern about this problem undoubtedly stems from our ownership of a pet male hunting dog. He's a pet that would bite himself before getting up the courage to bite a human. He's sweet, spoiled and sometimes stupid. But when nobody is home, it sure is warming to be greeted by him.

Unfortunately there is another side to the coin. Under proper invitation from a female dog in season he leaves the acre or so that is home to him. While, except on these occasions he wanders not, he is a nuisance to others when he does seek out his feminine counterpart.

A Bay St. Louis ordinance spells out that all dogs (no mention of cats) must be kept confined or else be subject to a trip to the pound. Stringently enforced, including the dog catcher going on private property in quest of errant animals, this should end any annoyance to the non dog loving individuals in our area.

Turning the coin to a slightly different angle we run into the problem to the owner and the dogs. A toy chihuahua is a different problem from an English setter. The chihuahua and many others are lap dogs, by breeding accustomed to confinement. The setter, the German Shepherd, the great Dane, and many others are not designed for chains, kennels or other confining quarters.

From the practical standpoint the problem resolves itself into whether the larger dog, particularly the hunting breeds, will survive. Probably in major cities these breeds have no place, but what about the small municipalities such as Bay St. Louis and Waveland? Even when his home is a thousand acre farm the obedient hunting dog or the mastiff may go beyond its borders.

We suggest non-pet fanciers seriously consider, at a time when not annoyed, if they think the world would be better off without some of the pets they deplore.

A Conservative View

One of the oldest maxims of jurisprudence is that hard cases make bad law. Recently in the Supreme Court, the maxim was turned around. When the court finished with Connecticut's anti-contraceptive act of 1977, it was clear that bad laws made hard cases.

The statute, read in conjunction with the case—all law as to aiding and abetting, could not have been clearer. The law made it a criminal offense, punishable by a fine of at least $50 and imprisonment up to one year, for any person to counsel another to use "any drug, medicinal article or instrument for the purpose of preventing conception."

To test the act, the Planned Parenthood League of Connecticut deliberately opened an office on Trumbull St., in New Haven. There the League's executive director, Mrs. Estelle T. Griswold, and its medical director, Dr. C. Lee Buxton, deliberately counseled three married women on the techniques of preventing conception. They were arrested, tried, found guilty, and fined $100 each. The trial court noted ironically that there was the fifth test of the law in 25 years: the judge stood on precedent. Mrs. Griswold and Dr. Buxton appealed.

In reversing their convictions, a majority of the Supreme Court last week tossed precedent to the winds. A prediction maybe ventured that Griswold v. Connecticut will be cited, before long, as one of the great milestone cases in the court's history. This term has seen some significant opinions in such fields as labor law, civil rights, and Communism; control; but none of the 115 opinions handed down since October is freighted with implications more far-reaching than the implications of the Griswold case.

The high tribunal split six different ways: Douglas wrote an opinion for the court that Clark evidently accepted; Harlan concurred in the judgment; Goldberg, Warren and Brennan concurred on different grounds; White concurred for still other reasons--and all seven of them had right and justice on their side. But Black and Stewart wrote separate dissents, each concurring with the other, and they had the constitution on theirs.

The majority found the Connecticut law unconscionable, repulsive, totalitarian, arbitrary, capricious, unjustified, unenforceable, destructive of privacy, and violative of personal liberty. It was therefore, in their view, unconstitutional.

Black and Stewart, dissenting, agreed with all these strictures. It was "an uncommonly silly law." But what made it unconstitutional?

The Supreme Court of the United States was asked, respectively, the power to pass any law that the constitution does not authorize it from passing. What is the constitution? Provided Connecticut from machine gun statutes?

The majority could not give a satisfactory answer. Douglas dwelled at length upon the "penumbras of privacy" emanating from the first, third, fourth, fifth and ninth amendments. Harlan and White thought the actual relations of man and wife apart of the liberty that is protected by the 14th amendment. It remained for Goldberg, Warren and Brennan to fix the milestone in place by relying principally upon the "forgotten ninth."

This is the amendment which asserts that "the enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people." In the entire history of the court, the ninth amendment has been affirmed but once. This was in 1947, in United Public Workers v. Mitchell, when the court held, as dictum, that the right to engage in political activity might be regarded as one of the "unenumerated rights." Until the Griswold case last week, every other attempt to build a case upon the ninth amendment had been rejected out of hand. And it never had been suggested that the ninth, which James Madison drafted as a restriction upon the Congress, ever could be used to void the act of a state.

With the court's nebulous dicta in the Griswold case, an entire new field of constitutional law appears dimly in the haze. Mr. Justice Goldberg, as the principal discoverer, was a little uneasy at the prospect: "I do not mean to imply...nor do I mean to state...I do not see how this broadens the authority of the court..."

But the implications are vast and the court's authority has been broadened. Here, in Black's penetrating words, the majority bestowed upon itself the power to invalidate any legislative act which the judges find irrational, unreasonable, offensive, unwise, or unnecessary. This they have no authority to do. "The adoption of such a loose, flexible, uncontrolled standard for holding laws unconstitutional," said Black, "if ever it is achieved, will amount to a great unconstitutional shift of power to the courts which I believe and am constrained to say will be bad for the courts and worse for the country." He had the last word; and he had it dead right.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - Britain's Prime Minister Wilson has become concerned over his relations with President Johnson. Not only has the British Ambassador in Washington been unable to see the President alone--though Alistair Cooke of the Manchester Guardian saw him for three hours--but the direct communications line between the White House and No. 10 Downing Street has been silent for some months.

In the days of President Kennedy and in the earlier period under Johnson, this line was used frequently. JFK kept up a constant contact with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Not a week passed without some communication. Though this continued at first under Johnson, it has now dwindled to zero. The telephone line is almost never used.

British concern results from the fact that they know the President is a great telephoner and that he picks up the phone to call members of Congress, businessmen, various others all over the United States. But he does not call London.

This is not that Johnson doesn't appreciate British support, but rather that he places most of his telephone calls because he is anxious to sell someone on a new step and he sees no way out of the Viet Nam impasse. Therefore any conversation with the Prime Minister would be embarrassing.

The Vietnam deadlock pains the President acutely. He has had great ambitions to be a peacetime President and, as the weeks pass, he realizes just as much as his severest critics that he has steered the country into a dead end which is becoming more dangerous by the day.

Diamond vs. bread

A backstage battle royal is taking place between leaders of the Johnson administration and a lobbyist who elected pro-Johnson Congressmen. It's over the new farm bill and the fact that it would increase the price of bread.

President Johnson has told Secretary of Agriculture Freeman that the farm program is costing too much and that the public must help pay for the high cost of wheat. This would probably mean a two cent increase in the price of bread at the very same time Congress is reducing the excise taxes on jewelry, furs, contending that the justice of the peace who fined him could not have been impartial since his fee depended on a conviction.

Just two months ago, at the Law-Laymen Conference in Jackson, a speaker told those assembled there that the Supreme Court has held that a person can't get due process of law under the fee system.

"I DON'T care how well run a court is, the person on trial will never be convinced of the impartiality of the judge if he knows the judge will get paid only if the person is convicted and that the judge won't get paid if the person is not convicted," he said.

This is just another valid argument in favor of revising our lower court system, and this one by itself may be sufficient for the federal court to force us to revise our system.

Once again, we face a situation where we may be forced to do something about a problem that we should have corrected by ourselves.

Mississippi legislators may get another chance to do something about the problem, though. If they do, we urge them to take positive action on the subject.

A motorist at Greenville has appealed a traffic conviction to the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, country club dues, and other luxuries. The lobbyist backing the administration is Maurice Rosenblatt, of the Committee for an Effective Congress, who raised money to elect many of the most enthusiastic pro-Johnson Congressmen last November. Rosenblatt has been hired by the big flour millers to stop any increase in the price of bread, and since he contributed heavily to various new Congressmen, he can influence a lot of votes.

This is one battle where LBJ may take a beating. No Congressman wants to vote for an increase in the price of bread at the same time he has voted for a decrease in the price of diamonds.

Battle of soapsuds

The battle of those hard detergents which pollute the rivers of America has been won by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.,--at least for the time being.

The big soap makers, including Lever Brothers, Procter and Gamble, and Palmolive, have all agreed to use soft detergents which bacteria in the sewage disposal plants can destroy.

Some of the experts very much doubt, however, that the new detergents will be soft enough. To make soap that won't continue to foam in rivers and wells, the experts warn, would cost too much.

Beauty and piers

Our readers write

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes letters to the editor on all topics of general interest and in good taste. Letters are limited to 300 words and MUST be signed, although the writer may ask that his name be withheld. We have several fine, but unsigned, letters in our file right now.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo: Have you quit trying to beautify Bay St. Louis? If you did I don't blame you as it is one hard job.

If you can or care to stop by my house I can show you something maybe the owners can take a hint from and beautify their place. Please don't quit. Bay St. Louis can be a very pretty place if only the owners will take heed. You'd be surprised that such nice people will let their grounds or house go to pot.

Thanking you, NMK.

I read your Sea Coast Echo all the time and keep up with the news over there. You are always looking for news. Did you go out on the pier in Waveland? There is not a ladder or anything to go in the water. You have to go from the seawall.

It's all right to go in but try getting out. Some one was kind enough to saw a ladder off and put it by the seawall.

They depend on tourist trade. I heard several people say they won't spend their vacations over there as the little ladder may be gone the next time they go and they won't even be able to go in the water.

Bay St. Louis and Clermont Harbor keep up their piers. Why can't we keep up our pier? Who is responsible for getting something to get in the water? You can't write to anyone over there as they don't return an answer so can't you please put a write-up in your paper and go take pictures of our pier in Waveland. We all pay taxes. If there is no place to get in the water don't you think that the tourists will go some place else for swimming.

Can you tell me if there is a meeting in August. I will be there for the first three weeks and you can be sure I will get some friends and go. I only get over on weekends as I work. It's a nice little town so let's try and get something to get in the water. Go see for yourself the condition. Bay St. Louis keeps things up, so does Clermont Harbor. They always say we pay taxes for seawall. I have been over there six years and the seawall looks the same. Please try and see what your paper can print. Maybe it will do some good.

MRS. THELMA TALLEY
New Orleans
(EDITOR'S NOTE: presumably Mrs. Talley refers to the pier at the foot of Columbia Avenue in Waveland. The town contends it does not own this facility, which was reconstructed recently by the Volunteer Fire Department.)

Merchants Bank leads Little League

Merchants Bank retained its one game lead in Little League play by posting an 8-2 victory over second place Industrial Enameling on Monday. Gulf Coast Express logged their first win of the season by downing Riemann's 13-2 in the day's initial game.

The Bankers, behind the 3-3 hitting of Ricki Kidd, rallied in the third inning to score five death-dealing runs. Randy Starita started for hill honors while opponent George Mayfield was charged with the loss. Andrew Mitchell, Tim Craig and R. Mayson collected the only hits for Industrial.

Gulf Coast Express pitcher Arthur Miller helped his own cause by pacing the shippers both in the hitting department and on the mound. Miller claimed his first victory of the year and allowed only three hits, all singles, to Riemann's Darrel Carlot, Gary Blatze and Woody Lafontaine. Miller's single and triple and Dale Lafontaine's three singles were enough for the Gulf Coast to win.

Last Friday's action saw Merchants bump Seven-Up, 7-0, on Randy Starita's no-hitter and Industrial polish-off Riemann, 7-4.

Starita hurled no hit ball for four frames and Wayne Martin came in on relief in the final stanza. Martin fanned two and walked two before retiring the side and protecting Starita's no-hitter. Larry Bushler led the Merchant advance with two for three trips to the plate. In the second of Friday's games, Riemann's Darrel Carlot smashed 2-3 and David Worrell lined 2-3 to lead their team in a six run second inning rally. David Fayard and Cory Blatze, 2-3, were the only Enamelers to claim hits. George Mayfield was the winning hurler and M. Keady the loser.

WOW! Truly a trite manner of expressing an overwhelming emotion, but that's our normal reaction after a second visit to MTF. . . and once again through the courtesy of our friends in Corps of Engineers. Our most recent trip was on the occasion of the 19th anniversary of this stalwart group, which last we forgot, most appropriately fell on Wednesday the 19th wedding anniversary of Lt. Col. Roy Besty, area engineer, so we'll send our congratulations before proceeding further.

We've tossed ideas and words around like crazy and have yet to come up with a description which would impart the vastness of the project, say to a reader in Dismal, Tenn., or possibly, Nove, Idaho, until pretty Carrilla Scarborough, the Echo's MSCW intern for 1965, stated that on first impression she felt as if she had landed on the moon. . . and sure enough, . . . that's just the feeling we had when viewing acres of neatly paved streets, widely spaced modernistic buildings, globular full storage tanks, helmeted workmen, masked welders, lush green grassy lawn sloping toward gently moving canals; enormous earth moving bits of machinery and the most nearly completed stand which to our utter amazement (and not of the designers) looks exactly like its replica beautifully scaled in the Corps conference room, right down to the proper shade of coral, blue and white!

Old home week

Once again it was like old home week when we were driven out by a former occupant of the now G E building, David James of Pass Christian, who dropped us off at Marvin Mancill's memo laden desk. Immediately we spotted another Wavelander, Fred Taylor and at various times during the afternoon ran into Bob Whitman and James Michael, both Grosvenor Place neighbors; Nap Christian, Freddie Bourgeois, Margaret (Mrs. Henry) Prevost, Captain Eugene Eastburn former Echo co-worker, Ray Kidd, Jr., Glen Coffman, the "new" Ray Gordon, and even our driver of the previous visit, Chester LeMay. Incidentally the cake was just as good as it looked as was Marvin's punch for which he used an old and very mysterious family recipe!

We've elated over the honor that has for the second consecutive year, been bestowed upon a Hancock Countian and even better, a Wavelander. Of course we're referring to Ray Gordon's selection as King Neptune VI to reign over the 17th annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo coming up next month. Edmond Brignac wore last year's crown and now Ray has been chosen as a senior citizen who has made significant contribution to the well-being of the Gulf Coast, the basis for selecting the King each year.

Travelling types

Time to catch up on news of some of our traveling and/or travelled friends. We just had the opportunity to ask Joe Scalfidi how he and Mrs. Scalfidi enjoyed their recent trip to Europe and he gave a glowing account of meeting son Carlo and taking a whirlwind two week tour which took them from Paris, to Italy, into Pompeii, then a return via both the Italian and French Riviera and into Lourdes. His only regret was that they didn't have about twice as much time in which to travel more leisurely.

Hazel (Mrs. Charles) Dahlin reports visits to Boys' Town, University of Nebraska and Michelle Museum while in Omaha where she's attending a Kappa Kappa convention.

Auralee (Mrs. Buck) Woodcock, and daughters Elaine and Sandra, sent cards full of the wonders of the fair which they went to at New York City last week.

Bessie (Mrs. Tony) Benigno is looking better than ever now that she has recuperated from her recent illness and has returned to her job at Ramsey's.

Adeline (Mrs. Ernest) Samuel doesn't seem in the least upset over her bout with gonorrhea. She says if one must have an ailment, it's just as well to have one usually credited to the very wealthy and on top of that, her's is of a very unique type. . . it's in the index finger of her left hand, of all places!

Belle (Mrs. Clem) Penrose was even bubblier than usual over the visit of her first great-grandchild, little Caroline Bel Medden, who with her mother, Nanette, came down from Jackson to the young lady could be baptised at Christ Episcopal last Sunday.

Delores and Norton Haas, Jr., are jubilant over the arrival of twins at their home. The new arrivals aren't babies, but tiny French poodles, as Mimi produced a son and daughter last Thursday morning. Mamma and offspring are doing fine.

Bob Gager's fame is spreading rapidly. He's scheduled to have an art show at the Broadwater Beach on July 16, for the Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers.

Special events

We're a bit late, but congratulations are on the way to the Andrew Brelands who celebrated 25 years of wedded bliss at a gathering for relatives and friends at their Highway 90 home on Sunday, June 6.

Deepest sympathies extended to former resident Matt Ballata upon the recent death of his brother Norman who passed away in New Orleans suddenly on Tuesday, June 8.

The quietest illnesses seem to be turning up of late—

Serio's golden wedding anniversary was a real three pique affair and anyone from Cajun country knows that they just don't get 'no' bigger nor better!

Big doings

As is par for the course around these parts three big events were scheduled Saturday night. OLG's, annual Church Fair, the Shipwreck Party at the Yacht Club and the Parish Hall Dance at St. Clare's. However, there were apparently enough people to go around as all drew a large attendance.

Some OLG fair workers included Vickie and Andy Becker, Rose and John Rutherford, No. 10 Kingston (with the goldfish booth, no less); Gerald Gex and Andre Arceneaux manning the ever-present little red truck; Taddy Strehmann, Lena and Joe Chiche, Catherine and Curtis Matherne, etc. etc.

The Ken Harringtons walked away with the best costume award at the Yacht Club—they came dressed in a couple of gummy sacks; Dave Poindexter as a very voluptuous lady wearing an advertisement, topped the men, and Kit Senter dressed in a fish net took first in women's competition.

So successful was St. Clare's dance that many have already made reservations for the next one—as yet unscheduled as far as we know.

Weekenders

Thoroughly enjoying a weekend outing at the estate of Rita Cue on Sunday were a large group from New Orleans Army Base, the now diminished Camp Laro Johnson. The party was tossed by Jean and Nat (officially Lt. Col. Noel J., U.S. Army) Cipriano and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cipriano. Some guests were Commander of the New Orleans Post, Col. Edward P. Ketcham and most attractive wife Virginia; Capt. and Mrs. Carroll Posey, and children George and John, and John's house guest Jamie Martinez of Bogota, Colombia; the young Ciprianos, Cathy, Bill and Noella and their cousin Christine Cipriano; and a most interesting group from Germany Lt. Col. Horst H. Anschuetz, wife Sofie, one German born son, Thomas, and one American citizen, Patrick, by virtue of his being born in New York. Horst has been here since 1961 and his official title is German Military Logistic Representative of U.S.A. and Canada, New Orleans Detachment. Also present was his secretary Ingeborg and her architect husband Nikolai Peterson. A really great time was had by all. Miss Rita was persuaded to join the group briefly and she brought along visitors Mrs. Akon Trevira, Mrs. Angelina Favre and Misses Bessie and Lily Hart who have just returned from a visit to Tampa, Fla. We enjoyed a long conversation with Jean Cipriano as he was the first time we'd met since their return from Alaska, where they were stationed for two years, and she said despite the fact that there's no denying it's a cold, cruel country, the whole family loved it and most remembered was the utter stillness without the constant hubbub of thousands of insects.

Oops

Again we goofed! As long as we've known Adele Parks' finance, Vern Shaw, we can offer no excuse except stupidity for calling him Smith in last week's column. Now all of her friends are kiddingly calling Adele "Mrs. Smith", which makes her the only bride-to-be of our knowledge who has an alias before she's wed!

Late notes

We're happy to hear that two who have been seriously ill in the past few weeks, Renee (Mrs. A.) Troyani and Mr. Walter Courtault are now recuperating at their homes.

Mabel Green returned from Houston, Tex., Sunday, after a ten day visit with her sister Jane and husband R. A. Blake-way. She really had a ball taking in the Astrodomo among other points of interest.

Nancy and Howard Adams and children, Becky, Aaron, David and Robin, have also returned from a fabulous vacation trip. Pensacola, Fla. was their first stop, then Silver Springs, after which they took in the Fair in New York and after that Washington, D.C. Probably the most exciting event of the journey was luncheon in the White House as guests of Nancy's cousin, Mrs. Juanita Roberts, who just happens to be President Johnson's executive secretary.

Myrtle and Bill Olsen are proud parents of a brand new daughter, Little Kimberly became theirs by adoption on Monday at the ripe old age of four days.

Joining Louise and Joe Wymer at their table at St. Clare's Parish Hall dance Saturday night were Miss Jean Dougherty of Macon, Ga., the Joe Benignos from Pass Christian; Emelda Price, Bea and Joe Damians and Connie Herlihy.

A very happy birthday wish goes to Marcella (Mrs. Charles) Bradley who celebrated her birthday Monday, June 21, as the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Springer in Ansley.

Gripe corner

Several have asked us to mention the fact that other peoples pets are driving them to distraction. The leash law is in effect although unless there are individual complaints, collared and tagged animals haven't been bothered to date, but some are taking advantage of officials kindness and allowing their dogs and cats to perform certain necessary duties in neighboring yards, which really isn't the best way we know to win friends.

Betty (Mrs. Edward P.) Phillips has asked us to pass on the word that there is a re-

NAMED SHRIMP QUEEN

Dorothy Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C.D. Wilson, Jr., ward offered for the return of her small black and tan Manchester type dog which answers to the name of Sonny Boy. Betty found the little animal, sick and starving when it was only a few weeks old and with the assistance of Dr. Bob Akers nursed it back to health. Sonny Boy is very friendly and someone may have picked him up by mistake. If so please contact Betty immediately as she has been so worried about her pet that she's been unable to sleep.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Bob Carver, a few paces behind the ever present Spot, merrily playing his harmonica; a bit further up the street Joe Kern bathing Big Boy, his huge Labrador by the simple method of hosing him down; hordes of people on the beach by the municipal pier of every age, shape and hue and the sound of their voices as they gamely gambol about in the probably polluted water.

Carol Smith, Mr. Rutherford exchange vows

The marriage of Miss Carol Ann Smith to David Joseph Rutherford took place last Friday evening before Justice of the Peace Nolan Ladner.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Smith of Rt. 1 and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Rutherford of Easterbrook Street.

Attending the couple were Miss Judy Compretta and Stanley Burch.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford left afterwards for a Florida honeymoon and are now at home on Ballentine Street.

The bride was feted last evening at a shower given by Miss Judy Compretta at her home on Old Spanish Trail.

Mrs. Butz wins garden club blue

Mmes. Frank Simmons, Joseph Rousseau and Kirk Rheams, members of the Blue Jeans Garden Club, judged floral entries at the Town and Country Garden Club meet last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Harry Von Antz.

Mrs. A.J. Butz captured the blue ribbon, Mrs. Earl Gates the red, and Mrs. L.A. Sauer took the white.

Minutes of their previous meeting were read by Mrs. Sam Manfre and Mrs. S.K. Kepner gave the financial report. Mrs. Manfre won the door prize.

FISH NETS - Mrs. James Semer took top billing with her portrayal of a well dressed, but shipwrecked young lady at B-WYC's shipwreck party on Saturday.

MORE POWER TO THE DAIRY FARMER

so well how to

American ingenuity which has produced the hydrogen bomb, has had a man floating in space and which is soon to put a man on the moon has never solved many of the mysteries of nature. It has not, for example, been able to produce a palatable, wholesome synthetic cow's milk.

Today in Mississippi the milk you drink was produced by what we call the "Electrified Cow".

While we have no substitute for milk, we do have a modern, efficient and economical substitute for much of the work which previously went into making it available to the public. This does not mean the life of a dairyman is a life of ease—he must still work seven days a week—but it does mean he can produce more milk with less people on the payroll in an ever-dwindling farm labor supply.

Electric power which helps grind, pump, cool, convey feed and milk the cow plays a vital role in the glass of milk you drink. It has played a vital role in the volume of milk produced and has made the difference in profit and loss for the dairyman.

Prior to the formation of Electric Power Associations in Mississippi there were less than 50 Grade A dairies in the state. Today there are 2,392, which had cash receipts of $35,306,000 last year. Few of these could exist without the electric power supplied by their locally owned Electric Power Association.

There is no suitable substitute for cow's milk in our daily diet and there is no suitable substitute for EPA electricity in its production.

... He Has His Own Savings Account!

Congratulations, Dad! He's a lucky boy! He has a father with plenty of foresight. You know it's never too early to start the savings habit, and that bouncing boy of yours will appreciate the tidy sum he's accumulated when the important things in life come along. As he grows up, saving will be easy for him because you've already taught him the first step: a Savings Account.
